RALPH C. M'CRACKEN,
Logic,
The series of Reading-Books and Grammars have been prepared with great care, and have been pronounced by competent judges to be the best works of the kind they have ever seen.
They are the "officially recommended school-books" in the States of Kentucky and Indiana.
They have received higher recommendations than any similar works, from the best educators in the States of Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia.
They are the text-books in the public schools in New Orleans, Mobile, and other Southern cities.
They are the only series of school-books edited and manufactured in the South. For that reason, in connection with their superior merits, they deserve the patronage of the South.
They are the BEST BOOKS, and when the mechanical execution and amount of matter are taken into consideration, they are the CHEAPEST BOOKS now published.

Consider of the Readers and Grammars have been pronounced by competent judges to be the best works of the kind of of the k Rhetoric, reprint from last London edition.

Dixon vs. Dixon.

The antecedents of the leaders of the Douglas faction in this State are as ring-streaked and striped in complexion as the celebrated short-horns that old Jacob obtained from his worth: father-in-law by Yankee ingenuity. We have already exposed some who were once Democrats, while the bare mention of others of the T. Lovely Jones variety was enough for our the "unterrified." purpose. We come now to a gentleman of came curious to know his views * * another stripe-Mr. Dixon-who, while the Whig party lasted, was one of its most able views. and popular leaders, and one of the most de-ber of the State Central Committee, had an intermined and gallant opposers of Democrat. ie men and measures. For the last five years, however, he has floated about rather promiscuously on the political streams--if we are correctly informed-splitting his ticket in 1855, supporting Buck and Breck in 1856, and voting for Josh Bell, slave code and all, in 1859. Among the number of distinguished strangers our midst, is the Hon. John C. Mason, of Bath, who is interested in an important suit. The editor of the Yeoman and two othterview on yesterday with Mr. Mason.

Mr. Mason denounced in the bitterest terms the doctrine that Congress shou'd not interfere to protect slavery in the Territories; that the idea that the courts could give "adequate protection" was a humbug and a delusion. The Yeoman man and his two colleagues remonstrated. They endeavored to explain and "soften down matters;" but Mason couldn't be reconciled. Mr. Dixon now believes that "the people of a Territory can, by lawful means, exclude slavery from their limits prior to the formation of a State Constitution," for this is the Douglas platform expressed in the very words of Douglas himself. A glance at the records will show that in assuming this position Mr. Dixon is We allude to the following:

In one of his recent speeches, delivered at Springfield, Massachusetts, Mr. Douglas stated that he stands "to-day on that (the territorial) question where Clay and Webster stood between Major Mason and the editor of this when they adopted the compromise measures

Let us examine and see whether this denounced non-intervention as little or no better claration is true. The position of Judge than freesoilism we remember very well, as Douglas is well known; but that it may be must every one else who heard him talk. Of fully shown, we copy from his Freeport

That is where Judge Douglas stands. And a portion of this letter from the Journal of now let us see where Mr. Clay stood in 1850. On the 8th of May, 1850, Henry Clay wrote as follows in his report:

I believe that the power does not exist on the part of Congress, and in that respect I differ from the Senator from Illinois in toto. Sir, his argument is a free-soil speech; it is the Wilmot Proviso, as far as the argument goes."

And Mr. Webster, the great constitutional expounder, said, as to the disposition of the question of slavery in the Territories:

"I conceive that the proper mode of proce o leave this matter to State legislation, a erritories shall have become States."

Again, Mr. Webster said—and he must be an ingenious casuist who can torture the speech into an indorsement of squatter sovereignty and the alleged power of a territorial legislature to disregard the Constitution and confiscate private property:

confiscate private property:

"We have always gone upon the ground that these territorial governments were in a state of pupilage, under the protection or patronage of the General Government. The territoriallegis.ature has a constitution prescribed by Congress. They must act within the limits of the constitution granted them by Congress, or else their acts become void. The people under the territorial government are not a sovereignty; they do not constitute a sovereignty, and do not possess any of the rights incident to sovereignty. They are, if you so please to denominate it, in a state of incheate government and sovereignty. If we well consider this question upon the ground of our practice during the last half century, I think we will find one way of disposing of it. It is our duty to provide for the people of the Territory a government to keep the pence, to secure their property; to assign to them a subordinate legislative authority; to see that the protection of their persons and the security of their property are all regularly provided for; and to maintain them in that state until they grow into sufficient importance, in point of population, to be admitted into the Union as a State unon the same footing with the original States. It seems to me that that is all our duty. It shall most readily concar in anything which tends to the performance of that duty. But I cannot go into any general discussion about the rights of the people while under the territorial government to do more than they are permitted to do by that constitution which creates a government over them."

These were the views of Clay and Web-

NAL IN THE STATE CANVASS OF 1859.

We subjoin a number of extracts from the four sylled Daily Journal of last year, all bearing upon the question of protection to slave roperty in the Territories. Our object in sublishing these documents is to show the fact that the acknowledged organ of the Kentucky Opposition went fully up to, and perhaps a torke's throw beyond, the mark of Congressional protection claimed in the platform of the National Democracy; and yet he did not consider himself a disunionist or a traitor for bold an avowal of the constitutional rights of the South. We make these extracts directthe National Democracy; and yet he did not sonsider himself a dissuments or a traitor for obded an avoral of the constitutional rights of the South. We make these extracts directly from the Journal itself, giving to each its proper date. We quote from leading editorials —in some instances giving the entire article, and in all cases extracting enough and in proper connection to show the editor's true meaning. Nowhere have we suppressed line or sentence in a quotation in contilict with what we publish. We make this explanation because we have had to complain of a departure from this course in some of our Opposition contemporaries who have pretended to quote from the Yeoman, and yet endeavored to quote from the Yeoman and Yeona a

The Courier is correct, and almost forcible, in what it says as to the striking and pestilent absurdity of holding that Congress has the power to protect slavery in the Territories and yet ought not in any event to exercise it. This is indeed a doctrine exceedingly revolting to every man's common sense. To say of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the South in the canvass of the same of the The Courier is correct, and almost forcible, in what

The editor of the Democrat, who has always attempted to ridicule the cry of Disunion, is now raising it himself as lustily as if all the brass in his face had passed to his lungs—raising it as a means of sustaining his abolition policy of Squatter Sovereignty.—Journal, April 28.

thinself as lustily as if all the brass in his face had passed to his lungs—raising it as a means of sustaining his abolition policy of Squatter Sovereignty.—Journal, April 28.

Nevertheless our readers know, that, for years past, we have resisted the vile doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty, never speaking of it except with soon and contempt. In 1856 we utterly condemned it in several articles in reply to the editor of the Louisville Democrat, who was then, as he is now, its defender. Last November and December we opposed it in several carefully considered articles in reply to the Democrat and Judge Douglas, and contended Crnestly that Congress ought to protect the constitutional rights of slaveholders in the Territories if the Territorial Legislatures should assail them or refuse to protect them.—Journal, April 29.

Our luminous neighbor of the Democrat wants to know whether or not we are ready and hints that solution of the Union if Congress shall refuse to protect those rights of the South which he is prepared and has been prepared at any time within the last ten years and which the bolk of his party in this State are now prepared to surrender without even asking for the protection of Congress. Our eurious neighbor is anxious to know whether we would dissolve the Union if Congress should refuse to protect in the protection of Congress. The editor of the Democrat, referring to the Presidential canvass of 1856, says:

is say, as to the striking and positiont absurbity of holding that Congress has the power to protect slayer in the Territories and yet ought not in any event to exercise it. This is indeed a dectrine exceedingly that Southern men have a constitutional right to enjoy unmoisted possession of their slave property in the Territories, and yet that Congress, with the Grentriories, and yet that Congress, with the Territories, and yet that Congress, with the agent of the Territories of the consent to see them deprived of it by a set of miserable squatters and robbers, is to insult and outrage both the common sense and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand, April 39, and the sense of all intelligent and hormand, April 39, and the sense of all intelligent and hormand agent and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand, April 31, and the bedder of the government in the sense intelligent and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand as the moral sense of all intelligent and the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand as the moral sense of all intelligent and hormand as the moral sense of all intelligent and the sense of all posterous. Why, in little upwards of two years after the enactment of the Kansas-Nebraska law, the Democratic Senate of the United States, the very body that originated the law, repealed a whole series of acts enacted by the Legislature of Kansas, in the most sovereign contempt of this fancied surrender of Congressional supremacy. Nebody on that occasion summoned the hardihood to oppose one word of the organic law divested itself of its supremacy over the Territories. Nobody.

And so in practice it must always be. Squatter Sovereignty, whatever may be sung in its praise by those fantastic Democrats who in the idea of the rights of a handful of settlers in Kansas or Nebraska or New Mexico or Utah lose the grander conception of the American people, and disown the rights it comprehends, is a heresy too absurd and shocking to find a lodgment in the actual workings of the government. The logic of things will forever exclude it. Politicians may thunder in its defense on the stump, in the press, and even in the senate, but the inexorable sense of affairs will never fail to reject it.—It is, in fact, a mere device of party, and was never designed to be a principle of action. It was invented for the purpose of getting power not of using it.

Note.-The position assigned to Magoffin in the foregoing extracts from the Louisville Journal is not correct. We will state it as we understood him. He cordially indorsed the decision of the Court in the Dred Scott case, together with the argument and the expositions of the Constitution upon which it was based. He admitted the power and duty of Congress to protect slave property when necessary. He contended that the decisions of the Courts should be backed by the Executive power. He held that the Judiciary and the Executive could then afford the necessary protection, and that, until the contra- Reports of Selected Civil and ry was clearly demonstrated upon trial, he was unwilling, in view of the settlement under he compromises of 1850 and the Nebraska

Letter from Governor Wise. The following letter was read to the Jackson Democratic Club, of Boston:

ROLLISTON, NEAR NORFOLK, Princess Anne county, Va., Aug. 2, 1860.

I find it very difficult to decline the compli mentary invitation of yours of the 19th ult., re-ceived within the last few days. I would prefer Boston and Faneuil Hall in Boston to any other stand point to speak from in the United States, on the topics, especially of these dark times. But it is impossible. Domestic duties, building and illness together, forbid me to form any engagements that will require additional labors or absence from home for many months to come. I shall give to the Breckinridge and Lane ticket all nees in some essential particulars, and certainly do not subscribe the platform, in two respects, on which they are placed by their nomination; but their triumph will be the triumph of the vital doctrine of protection to persons and property in the common Territories of the United States. That is the issue of this contest, whether protection everywhere, to all and all alike, shall prevail against this emasculating theory of Non-In-lervention. If protection be an abstraction, non-intervention is not. If the Legislative department, ongress, and the Executive department, the resident, which is to see that the laws are faithully executed, are both to ignore the parens pariæ duty of protecting all citizens equally and like, wherever the jurisdiction of Government xtends, in the rights of person and property, rithout discrimination or distinction or difference, and are to throw the powers and duties of proecting persons and property wholly upon the Ju-iciary, which is the umpire department between tizen and citizen, and Government and citizens, matters of individual rights, what is to be the esult? The first and worst consequence will be hat it will drag the Supreme Court of the United tates from its bench of equality, equity, and aw and justice, and bedraggle it in the mire of artisan politics until its ermine will be so stained artisan politics until its ermine will be so stained hat it will be unfit to hold the scales of right, aw, justice, or morals at all. The second consequence will be that it will set up a mere municial umpire to the arbiter, or umpire between sovereign States, which in the last resort can only ecide for themselves. The third consequence ill be that this Executive, by ignoring its duty and power of protection, will at last obtain all the owers of the Government; for the judges are ominated, and by and by with the advice and onsent of the Senate, appointed by the Presisent.

THE season is at hand when these scourges of childhood begin to become both troublesome and dangerous. Dr. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is a remedy alike pleasant and effectual for the evil. There is not the least difficulty in getting children to take the medicine. It is prepared in the form of Candy Drops, and will be eaten with avidity by children of all ages. It destroys and expels more worms effectually than any remedy now in use, while at the same time it will in no way affect injuriously the health of the child. It can be procured from druggists and country stores everywhere.

John Bell and the Record.

In Senate, August 28, 1850, pending the bill to boils the slave trade in the District of Columia, and by which any slave whatever brought to the district for sale, or placed there to be ansferred to any other place and sold, was to be me liberated and free, Mr. Atchison, of Mis suri, as he stated at the time, by way of a test of the relation to the bill, moved to lay it one table and thus kill it. It has cured thousands within the last two years, who had given up all hopes of relief, as the case of the certificates in my possession show.

The dose must be adapted to the temperament of the individual taking it, and used in such quantities as to act gently on the Bowels.

Let the dictates of your own judgment guide you in the use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR, and it will cure Liver Complaints, Bilious Attacks, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhea, Summer Complaints, Dysentery, Dropsy, Sour Stomach, Habitual Costiveness, Cholic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Flatulence, Jaundice, Female Weakness, and may be used successfully as an Ordinary Family Medicine. It will cure SICK HADACHE (as thousands can testify) in twenty minutes, if two or three teaspoonfuls are taken at commencement of attack.

All who use it are giving their testimopy in its favor.

THE ONLY PREPARATION THAT HAS

STOOD THE TEST OF YEARS

And Grows More and More Popular
Every Day!

And testimonials, new, and almost without number, might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 21st, 1858.

Prof. Wood: Thee wilt please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black, though short, it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently. I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means to purchase any more. I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle, and receive to thyself the scripture declaration—"the reward is to those that are kind to the widow and the fatherless."

Ligonier, Noble Co., Indiana, Feb. 5th, 1859.
PROF. O. J. Woop: Dear Sir: In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and Nation al Law School of the State of New York, my hair from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling overy rapidly, so that in the short space of six month the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entire very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining dortion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reclaible Hair Restorative in use, I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect.

Very respectfully, yours.
